Diamond grinding of floors and sealing

Grinding is a method of renovating floors of natural smooth rocks—marble, travertine, quartz, mosaic and others. It is done with high speed disc machines and diamond tools of various abrasiveness. Abrasive diamonds are used to eliminate scratches, coloring and small imperfections. The final pads add shine, seal the rock's pores and have a polishing effect.

The machines we work with have various sizes and noise levels as flooring can be renovated without stopping the access of visitors to the site which makes the service very comfortable for hotels, shops etc.

The result is permanent restoration of the primary shine and good appearance of the floor.

Sealing (impregnation) of natural stone – gloss or matt optional. Used are special detergents going in the pores and micro scratches of the flooring. This way ensured is long-term protection of surrounding environment.

Prevented is also entering of dirt, moist and dark spots on the stone. Extending the life of the polished flooring and increasing its sustainability.

Water and sand blasting

Cleaning of stone façades, floorings and other surfaces through Water Blasting.

The process hides within the abrasive effect of particles on the surface being processed. The water blasting machine ejects abrasive particles mixed with water under very high pressure and when encountering the surface, they remove microns out of it. The method is appropriate for removing graffiti and stone façades contamination, flooring, fences and many others. Depending on what will be treated, only high-pressure water is also optional.

The sand blasting allows cleaning of old roofs, oxidation and rust so you can get a good cohesion for the next anti-corrosion or protective processing.

Upholstered furniture laundry

What we prefer to use is "Extraction" cleaning, this includes detergent and extraction which overall is a great way to deal with a lot of dirt. With time dust and dirt go deep into the fabrics. Extraction and the specially formulated cleaning products of our experts will easily handle this. In case you have delicate fabrics, which do not tolerate water, we will use a dry-cleaning technique that does not use water.

Don't worry if you don't know which method is best to use. Our experts will do an on-site inspection and will give you the best options. We will never recommend a potentially harmful cleaning option.
